Bev's Buzz

Hello Ladies!

I'm sitting early this morning racking my brain for something to say to encourage us all and coming up short as usual. Finally, I asked the Lord for a little inspiration and He reminded me of a short phrase I heard one time...quietly go on.

I like that phrase; I don't always do it but I sure do like that phrase. So many of our members are in radically different circumstances; some are still teaching day after day struggling to make connections with students who don't seem to respond while caring for their own children at home, many are sandwiched between caring for aging parents and continually helping grown yet still maturing children, and still others struggling with health issues, financial burdens or just the painful knowledge that we are not able to do what we could always do before.

Just quietly go on.

If you wouldn't mind too much, I'd like to share an excerpt from one of my stories I'm writing with Storyworth.com.

Women who pray inspire me.

I'm so proud of women who work hard, devoting themselves to serving their families and others. I'm proud of women who succeed against all odds being consistently diligent to fulfill lifelong dreams.

The Mission of the Society

But I'm most inspired by women who quietly go on, praying continually for their unsaved loved ones or the special needs of others until the answer comes. They don't give up when the answer they request from God does not come quickly, they are patient and forge on through with their efforts in prayer. I'm inspired by women who honestly share their lives of everyday trials and struggles and also their profound faith in a loving, merciful Heavenly Father.

So, even though we are all struggling at times, let's all quietly go on this February, sharing our love every way we know how to all those we love and cherish in our lives. And I do love and cherish this inspiring group of women educators. I've learned so much from all of you.

Theta Nu's "1 and Done" Project

Our monthly small chapter project has a new name. It's "1 and Done" because you do it once and you are done! Last month we collected 3 large bags of dogfood and 8 pouches of moist food. In February, in addition to our normal cereal and money contributions to the Whitehouse Food Bank, we will also provide cans of soup. Bring your soup to the next meeting on February 2 or drop soup off on the front porch of CindyS (Whitehouse) or NancyB (Tyler) by Friday, February 4.

The March "1 and Done" is canned or dried cat food for Pets Fur People. More details next month.

Theta Nu Book Club

February's selection is The Secret, Book and Scone Society by Ellery Adams. "From New York Times bestselling author Ellery Adams comes the first in an intriguing series set within a quirky small-town club where the key to happiness, friendship—or solving a murder—can all be found within the pages of the right book . . . Miracle Springs, North Carolina, is a place of healing. Strangers flock here hoping the natural hot springs, five-star cuisine, and renowned spa can cure their ills. If none of that works, they often find their way to Miracle Books, where, over a fresh-baked "comfort" scone from the Gingerbread House bakery, they exchange their stories with owner Nora Pennington in return for a carefully chosen book. That's Nora's special talent—prescribing the perfect novel to ease a person's deepest pain and lighten their heaviest burden."

Is There Something We Can Do? ~ Cindy Loughmiller

One of the many pleasures of being a part of the Theta Nu Chapter of DKG, is the pleasure of reading and discussing books with each other. So far, we have only read two (well, three—counting the current selection), but everything that starts has to start somewhere. So, we did.

The book we just finished reading, Sharon Cameron's The Light in Hidden Places is the true story of how Stefania Podgorska's heroic actions during the German occupation of Poland saved the lives of thirteen Jews. Several times while I was reading, I thought, "This is it. She's never going to be able to bring these people through this circumstance." Yet, somehow, she perseveres.

During our discussion, we mentioned other books we had read or places we had visited such as Dachau, Auschwitz, and Holocaust Museums. We mentioned quotes from the book, such as when Stefania says, "Someone else should be doing this job. Making these decisions. But there was no else. There was only me." Another member recalled the quote that is penned on the wall of the Dallas Holocaust Museum: The only thing necessary for evil to triumph in the world is that good men do nothing.

As we reflected on the plight of the Jews in World War II, one member said that this book brought to mind the current suffering of the people of Ukraine. Couldn't we do something to help them during this time? At the time, we all agreed but no ideas percolated to the surface. But...

This week, we learned through a KLTV post, that Tyler has a sister city in Poland and that the Tyler Sister Cities Organization is raising funds for its second wave of humanitarian relief. According to the post, our sister city in Poland, Jelenia Gora, has become the new home of 4,500 Ukrainian refugees and has used funds from Tyler to operate a resource center that distributes fresh food and shelf-stable products.

So, in answer to the title of the article - Yes, there is something we can do. From the comfort of our homes, within the safety of our Republic, we can (to quote the old AT&T commercial), "Reach out and touch somebody's hand. Make this world a better place if you can."

February Chapter Meeting: Book Bingo Time

Remember pre-COVID when we had a joint chapter meeting to raise funds for chapter projects? Well, it's back! Not COVID, but the fun fund raiser. Zeta Gamma is our host at Bruno's in Flint on Thursday, February 2 at 5:15. We will have supper and then play our favorite game. Cards are $1.00 each, and you can buy as many as you want. Also be sure to bring several used children's and adult books so we will have enough books for all the winners. We'll have a lot of winners so we need lots of books.

What could be better? Decluttering your bookshelf, supper, lots of laughter and shouts of Bingo!, fun, and winning. Plus, you'll take home something different to read. It's a win-win, and win!

Sharon G's Top 10 (Not in Ranked Order)

- I don't know how to plan the quantities for a whole meal for more than 8 people.
- Surprise! I tend to be more of an introvert than an extrovert unless I'm really comfortable with the person/group I'm with.
- I never learned how to use phonics to sound out words. (It wasn't taught in Texas public schools in the '50's.)
- I co-founded #txlchat, a weekly Twitter chat for school librarians that was recognized by the American Association of School Librarians for providing professional support for librarians across the state and country.
- I've worn glasses or contacts since the 3rd grade (1953)
- I love to binge watch Netflix series.
- I would rather learn something new by trial and error than by reading the directions.
- I learned to ride a bicycle with no training wheels.
- I'm a notorious night owl.
- I've been married 57 years to the same man!
- Ray and I both are only children.

Sharon's Never Have I Ever

- Read the Harry Potter series.
- Been to a music concert in a stadium, but I've attended 2
- Billy Graham crusades in stadiums.
- Been skydiving.

Theta Nu Chapter Minutes

January 5, 2023

The monthly meeting was conducted through a virtual meeting led by President BeverlyK at 4:30. There were 5 members present therefore a quorum was not established. Marsha Edney was our guest. It was reported there is $2,673.67 in the checking account and $2,962.54 in the savings account.

Unfinished business:

1. Continue to send money to TeriG for Whitehouse Food Pantry. The last delivery was 80 cereal boxes and 80 fruit cups. We also donated dog food to SPCA.
2. Reminder of our Book Bingo meeting with Zeta Gamma at Bruno's at 6:00 on Thursday, February 2.
3. Reminder of the TSO Virtual meeting on February 7. Registration closes Feb. 3 and is free.
4. Next book club meeting is February 9 at 4:30 at La Hacienda in Whitehouse (back room).

New Business:

1. It was decided to send Valentine cards to our "shut in" members.
2. Member Cindy Wingate has asked us to start praying for her mission trip in March to the Amazon River Basin. We are so excited to see what God will do!!!! Way to go Cindy!!

Our antique roadshow was so much fun!!! There were interesting stories to go along with our choice of antique. We would love to try that again at another meeting in the future.

Announcements:

1. Linda Nichols would like to thank everyone for all the prayers for her daughter. She asked that we continue to pray for her to gain strength as she is home now.

Meeting adjourned: 5:50 PM

Respectfully submitted by Secretary NancyB

Healthy Valentine Treat

Spoon strawberry or any flavor yogurt into a plastic bag. Poke a hole in a corner and squeeze quarter-size shapes onto a cookie sheet. Freeze for one hour. They're like Hershey's Kisses, but healthy. from 1000LifeHacks.com

A mostly healthy treat! Dip the ends of washed strawberries into melted dark chocolate. Want your strawberries to last longer? Wash them with diluted vinegar before you dip them. This will extend their life for up to two weeks. from 1000LifeHacks.com
